Common Name	Elena's Coral Dawn Japanese Maple
Botanical Name	Acer palmatum 'Elena's Coral Dawn'
Image	Binary data cannot be exported
Form and Flower	Deciduous tree, the form is generally upright and eventually forms a small spreading mid-sized tree.
Foliage and Fruit	Selected for both shape and color, the lobes of the leaves are cut quite deep to the midrib and are deeply and irregularly serrated creating a lacey and delicate appearance. In spring the reticulated variegation is primarily a coral color with hints of amber and light pink, contrasted by burgundy veins. In summer the leaf edges & veins are yellow green with an amber-peach interior. Fall color is red-orange. No significant bark character noted.
